Article 7: CATEGORIES

The Haute Route is a multi-day road cycling event with two distinct classifications: individual (Solo) and team (Team).

All participants will appear in the Solo ranking, and can choose to join a team to appear in the Team ranking. To appear in this classification, a team must be composed of a minimum of 4 participants, and a maximum of 6 participants. Participants wishing to compete as a team, but failing to meet the sufficient number of members will only appear in the Solo category.

Participants can choose until the registration day between 2 courses: a long distance (Original) and a shorter distance (Compact). Participants will appear in the rankings that matches their choice.

The Compact course does not have a Team classification. A participant in the Compact course will therefore not be able to join a Team.

Participants will be classified in one of the following rankings:

- Solo men Original
- Solo women Original
- Men's Team Original
- Women's Team Original
- Mixed Team Original
- Solo men Compact
- Solo women Compact

Solo Riders in both Original and Compact courses will be ranked in the following age categories (age determined by age on December 31st of current year):

- 18-29
- 30-39
- 40-49
- 50-59
- 60+

Article 8: SAFETY DURING THE EVENT

The route for the Haute Route Davos will not take place on closed roads, normal vehicle and pedestrian traffic must be expected.

The Organisation will provide safety and traffic support on the route in order to ensure that the event takes place in acceptable racing conditions, but participants must remain vigilant at all times.

Participants must adhere to the rules of the road, race officials, marshals and traffic police at all times including the following:

- Cycle on the right-hand side of the road, at all times;
- DO NOT cross the middle of the road at any time;
- Comply with all event road signage put in place by the Organisation;
- Respect traffic signal lights or signs if they are not secured by a race official, marshal and traffic policeman;
- Respect other road users who are not involved in the race.

The following rules have been put in place to ensure the safety of the participants and to allow for the effective management of the event:

- Participants must have their bib clearly visible on their back;

- Bike plates must be placed on the front of the handle bars and must be clearly visible at all times.
- Bibs and bike plates must not be modified, defaced, cut or reduced in size.
- It is strictly forbidden to wear earphones at any time during any stages of the event

Most of the stages of the event will start by means of a secured and non-timed convoy, riding at a regulated speed. Participants must respect the instructions given by the Organisation during this time and until such time as the official start of the stage is given.

When reaching the 'FINAL STOP TIMING' point, located outside of the Host City, the participants must continue to abide by the traffic laws for the remaining kilometres to the event Village.

Failure to abide by the event Safety Rules could result in a participant being awarded time penalties or disqualified from the event as laid out in Article 20 of these rules.

Article 9: MEDICAL ASSISTANCE

The medical service of the Haute Route Davos will consist of highly experienced doctors, medics, emergency response workers, and ambulances, the number of which will depend on the current rules specifications of the event at the time. For medical reasons, a participant can temporarily or permanently be withdrawn from the race. A medical emergency number will be put in place so that each participant can easily, in case of any major medical emergency, inform of their situation and do so 24/7 during the entire event.

Each participant:

- authorises Organiser staff, representatives, contractors or other medical personnel to obtain or provide medical care for me, to transport me to a medical facility, and to provide treatment (including but not limited to evacuation, hospitalization, blood transfusions, surgery and medications) they consider necessary for my health.
- agrees to pay all costs associated with that care and transportation. Each participants
- agrees to the release (to or by Organiser, any race federation and/or sanctioning body, insurance carriers, other health care providers and their staff, representatives or contractors) of any medical information or records necessary for treatment, referral, billing or other purposes.

Article 10: ANTI-DOPING

By registering for the Haute Route Davos all participants agree to respect the prohibition of doping and the provisions concerning anti-doping controls, as they result from laws and regulations in force. Anti-doping controls can be carried out at any time without prior notice by licensed authorities.

Article 11: RACE TIMEKEEPING

The timekeeping of the Haute Route will be carried out by an electronic timing system.

All participants will receive a bike plate that includes a sensor for timekeeping. This bike plate, which must be installed in front of the handlebars, will be used to control the race at various points on the route and to provide race timing for each participant.

For Stage 1, the start time for each rider will be the one given by the chip when crossing the first timing mat. From Stage 2 onwards a grouped start time will be given to the top riders of the peloton (25 first Men, 5 first Women on General Classification Solo) based on the time of the first rider crossing the first timing mat.

Rankings will be based on the cumulative times between the beginning and finish of each of the timed sections.

Outside of the group start time for the first section, the time taken into account will be the one given precisely by the chip on your bike plate at the crossing each timing mat (start and end of each timed section and finish line).

A participant who has not completed the entire course will not be given a ranking at the finish.

For safety reasons, the organiser may decide not to time some portions of the course. These untimed sections must be entirely covered on your bike without external assistance (car, bus etc.) Riders who fail to respect these regulations are subject to time penalties and/or exclusion from the race detailed in Article 20.

Article 12: TIME LIMITS

Riders must complete every stage inside the stated Cut-Off time in order to obtain an Official Finisher Ranking.

Cut-Off times are dependent on several factors: distance and difficulty of each stage, weather, road conditions and total altitude gain and/or loss, and importantly is produced in partnership with the regional permitting agencies and law enforcement. Intermediary and stage Cut-Off times for each stage will be communicated in advance in the Riders' Roadbook, and at the daily briefing the evening before each stage.

The following rules apply to Cut-Off Times:

- If a participant does not meet a Cut-Off time, they will be removed from the course and will be required to return to the event Village in the broom wagon or by their own means.
- Missing the Cut-Off time on one day means the participant will no longer have an overall ranking for the event or for that stage. The participant will receive a Did Not Finish (DNF) on the official results for that stage. In such a case, the rider will be permitted to continue the event the next day but will not appear in the event General Classification. The participant will still receive a ranking for each subsequent stage completed and be eligible for other daily podiums.

The "End of Race" vehicle will have the authority to stop riders that have fallen outside of the 'Cut-Off time'.

Lanterne Rouge – The Lanterne Rouge is an important personality on all Haute Route events, and their role is critical in assisting, cajoling, encouraging and willing riders who are struggling to find the right mix of courage, ability, technique and energy to get themselves to the stage end within the stage Cut-Off time limit. The Lanterne Rouge does NOT define the Cut-Off time for a stage.

Article 13: PERSONAL ASSISTANCE

The participants of the Haute Route Davos may not receive assistance outside of the feed station zones put in place by the Organisation. This includes all forms of support including receiving mechanical and food/water assistance. Private support vehicles may not intervene outside of feed station zones in any way.

All drivers of private support vehicles must attend a mandatory briefing on 22nd September 2022 following the rider briefing.

Failure to abide by the rules relating to receiving personal assistance could result in a participant being awarded time penalties or disqualified from the event as laid out in Article 20 of these rules.

Article 14: RANKINGS

14.1 Solo rankings

Only the Solo participants who have completed all the stages and who have crossed the finish line each day before the time barrier, will appear in the final General Classification of the Haute Route Davos. All riders must cross the finish line at the Haute Route Village in each stage, especially where the "final timing line" is situated before this finish line.

To appear in the General Solo Ranking of the Original course, each participant must have successfully completed each of the three stages of the Original course of the event.

To appear in the General Solo Ranking of the Compact course, each participant must have successfully completed each of the three stages of the Compact course of the event.

14.2 Team rankings

Each Team will be classified in the General Team Classification. This ranking will be established by cumulating the times of the three best members of the Team during the different stages.

If riders of a Team retire, bringing the number of riders in the Team under three, the Team will then be removed from the General Team Classification. Team members still in competition will remain classified in the General Solo Ranking.

- Mixed Team

In the specific case of a Mixed team, the ranking will be established by cumulating the times of the three best team members through the different stages, with at least one woman and one man classified during each stage.

If riders from a Mixed Team retire and the team can no longer fulfill this condition, even if three riders are still present in the Mixed Team (3 men or 3 women), the latter will then be withdrawn from the General Team Classification.

Article 15: WITHDRAWAL

Withdrawal during a stage: if a participant is unable to complete a stage for any reason, the participant can use the broom wagon to get to the event Village. In this case the participant will be permitted to take part in the next stages but will no longer be ranked in the General Classification, as there will be no attributable time. If a participant withdraws or is withdrawn from a stage for medical reasons, they may not start the next stage unless the event Medical Director provides authorisation for them to do so.

Withdrawal from the Haute Route: in case of complete withdrawal, the participant will be responsible for leaving the Haute Route and returning home, along with his/her equipment and luggage (including his/her bike bag/cover which will be at the finish location for 7-day events).

Failure to start a stage:

If a participant fails to start a stage for whatever reason they will be given a Did Not Start (DNS) for the given stage. Should they want to continue to ride in the event in the following stages, the participant will not be eligible for placement in the event General Classification.

The participant must make his/her own arrangements to get to the start line of the next stage.

Article 16: OFFICIAL PRIZE GIVING CEREMONIES

An official prize giving ceremony will take place, at the end of each day, immediately followed by the compulsory Rider Briefing. Riders who fail to attend are subject to penalties detailed in Article 20.

Winners of the Haute Route Davos will be given prizes but no cash will be awarded.

Article 17: DAILY SAFETY BRIEFINGS

The Technical Director will present a summary video of the next stage at the Daily Safety Briefing. The following day's stage will then be presented to the participants, which will include essential information on the route, timing, road closures and other important safety information. Any last-minute changes to the stage will be communicated during this briefing.

It is mandatory that all participants attend the Safety Briefing.

Article 18: AMENDMENTS TO INDIVIDUAL STAGE ARRANGEMENTS

For each stage of the Haute Route, the Organisation reserves the right to change at any time the course and/or the position of the feed stations and/or the Cut-Off times. In case of bad weather and to ensure the safety of participants, the Organisation reserves the right to postpone the time of departure, to stop the current stage or to cancel it.

Article 19: PROTEST FORM

Participants can submit Protest Forms to the Organisation to:

- Notify breaches of the rules from another participant
- Notify about an action that may give them a deduction of time (Protest Forms for waiting for the mechanical support will never be accepted)
- Complain about the action of the Organisation

If necessary, the Protest can be joined with additional pieces of evidence (witnesses, GPS datas, photos, etc.).

The Protest Form must be submitted in writing at the Info Point not more than 1 hour after the finish of the Stage.

The Organisation Jury will deliberate and issue a decision on the Protest that can contain sanctions according to the Article 20. This decision will be communicated to the rider not later than before the Start of the next stage and/or at the end of the Event up until the final prizegiving ceremony.

Article 21: INSURANCE

What follows below is subject to the general disclaimer set out above in Article 1.

Civil Liability: In conformance with all relevant current legislation of the dominant and governing jurisdiction [please see Article 1], the organiser has taken out insurance that protects against the financial consequences of actions against the organiser, its staff and the participants in the race. With respect to the personal liability coverage of the participants, it is limited to the accidents they could cause during the race from the start line to the finish line of the timed sections. This insurance will take effect either as a complement to other insurance the participants might have or if participants do not have any insurance.

Personal Accidents: We highly recommend that all participants of the Haute Route, with or without a license from a sports federation, take out an insurance guaranteeing the payment of a lump sum in case of injury (death or permanent invalidity) due to an accident that may occur during the Haute Route. The compensation, depending on the damages suffered, will be paid only if the participant who suffers the accident during the race is insured. It is an optional insurance but highly recommended. You can use it in addition to the similar type of insurance obtained via a sports' license (FFC for example).

Damage to personal possessions: the Organisation declines all responsibility for loss or damage to any of a participant's personal belongings. The organiser's insurance contract does not cover loss or damages suffered by participants due to loss of or damage to personal possessions including the bicycle and related equipment. To protect against costs and damages related to theft or damage to a bike or related equipment, all participants are responsible for obtaining their own insurance.

The Organisation cannot be held responsible for any possible accidents whether the rider is the cause or victim. Such accidents and the consequences of them must be covered by the insurance policy of the rider. The Organisation will accept no responsibility for debts, costs that the rider incurs, the repair and damage costs to the bikes, or the loss of any other material owned by the rider. The participant absolves the Organisation of all responsibility regarding the loss or damage to any personal property regardless of the circumstances.
